

Royal Sovereign International Announces The Arrival Of The Paramount 65X – 65” Pneumatic Laminator

Rockleigh, New Jersey – April 1st, 2017 – Royal Sovereign International is pleased to announce the arrival of the newest addition to their wide format laminator line-up, the Paramount 65X - 65” Pneumatic Laminator. Commercial grade pneumatic pressurized silicon rollers with heat assist allows for lamination speeds of nearly 20 feet per minute (6 meters per minute). A rear facing remote and heavy duty foot pedal enable hands free operation which is especially useful when mounting substrates up to 1.2 inches in thickness (30 mm). The “SureSet” tension control knobs enables users to easily set a repeatable amount of tension for any job.

“There is a growing need for pneumatic laminators in the marketplace due to the increased demand for traffic signage” said Carl Hoffman, Director of Graphic Sales. “The pneumatic rollers and easy to read PSI indicator on the Paramount 65X, enables users to regulate the exact amount of downforce between the rollers, which is essential in traffic sign production.”

The Paramount 65X was engineered to withstand the rigors of heavy volume product, a sturdy frame and solid steel construction provides a stable platform for lamination and mounting. Optional features included the inline feeder to flatten the media before it enters the rollers, a rigid media guide with pre-determined heights to ensure the proper amount of pressure when mounting self-adhesive media or film to substrates and an additional front feed supply.

As a leader in the wide format lamination industry, Royal Sovereign continues to provide innovative products with features to simply the workflow process benefiting operators and owners alike. Contact your local sale representative for more information on the Paramount 65X.
